DATE: Sept. 16, 2021
FROM: John Floros, NMSU President
TO: Las Cruces campus faculty and staff
SUBJECT: Support for one another

The university is aware of a classroom disruption that occurred earlier today on our Las Cruces campus. This situation is being addressed by the NMSU Police Department.

We all know these are challenging times and as the pandemic drags on, we're seeing more and more people express their frustrations. This is why it is so important to support one another during this time.

I have personally spoken with the faculty member whose class was disrupted today to offer my support and assurances that we will do everything needed to provide for the safest possible workplace and learning environment. Additionally, every member of the university's senior administration has been briefed on this situation and they also offer their support.

We are asking all of our employees to be observant. If you see something that doesn't look quite right, please report it to the NMSU Police Department.
